DEMOCRAT PRIMARY IN PUTNAM COUNTY.

Cookeville, Tenn., July 22.—The Democratic primary election board consisting of B. C. Hudleston, chairman, W. Y. Bennett, secretary, O. K. Holladay Walter Carlen, Miss Mary Lou Gililand, Mrs. W. L. Swallows and Mrs. Rutledge Smith met in the office of the secretary Saturday and passed rules and regulations governing the Democratic primary election to be held September 3, in Putnam County.

As there are so many candidates for the various offices the board assessed each seven and a half dollars fee for election expenses instead of ten dollars as heretofore. Each candidate must qualify before the 10th day of August. In case of a tie between two candidates there shall be a run off between them. The primary election board will meet on Wednesday following the election to canvass the returns.

The following are candidates for Democratic nomination for

A man can always dedicate to his typewriter, but seldom to his wife.

A girl may not enthruse much over the man, but it's no trouble at all to go into raptures over the engagement ring.

Rev. J.D. Smith, of Kentucky is holding a revival meeting in the Free State. A number of Gainesboro families attended the Sunday services.

Charley Ragland of Flynn's creeks brought a wagon load of melons here last Saturday. There were several thousand people in town and he soon had his melons sold.

Capt. W. A. Crawford has returned from John Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore, where he has been under treatment for several weeks. He is improved in health.—Putnam County Herald.

Mr. Crawford is formerly of this county, and his many relatives and friends here will be glad to know that he is enjoyed better health.

offices: for sheriff, J. M. Hunter, C. P. Hunter, John Lee, Bass Butler and Joe Maddux; for trustee, Dow Slagle, J. F. Hampton, Haskell Henry, Daniel Bartlett, Oscar Fergeson, R. M. Breeding, Mrs. Mary Curtis, Deny and James Farley; for register, John Burnett, J. L. Ledbetter, L. D. Huddleston, Z. A. Mitchell, Haskel Grogan and Oscar Grogan; for county clerk Algood Moore; for county attorney, E. H. Boyd; for circuit court clerk, Tom Scarlett.

So far no one has come out for the office of county superintendent. The last legislature enacted a law in regard to this that makes qualifications necessary that a few of the old educators possess and the young are slow in putting themselves forward. A county superintendent must now be a graduate of a high school or hold a diploma equal to a certificate from a high school. Tennessee will some day reach the efficiency mark in school work.—Tennessean.

OPPOSED TO ROAD LAW IN PUTMAN CO.

There seems to be a desire on the part of a few of the citizens of Putnam County to agitate against the recent road law enacted for Putnam County. The law has been declared by progressive and patriotic citizen to be the best of its kind. One of the committee who helped to draft the law said it would require him to work his teams eighty days, as he possessed twenty teams and the law has put a tax of four days' work to a team. He said however he made no complaint, as this would enable better work for his own purpose, and that without good roads there could be no market for farm products.

Jere Whitson was appointed county superintendent of the road building and empowered to appoint his assistants. Mr. Whitson is well fitted for the position. He knows the resources of the county the ability of the men, he will work the needs for good roads and as a patriotic and just citizen will do his duty.

Those who are opposing the law are not as a rule large land owners or stock men—Tennessean.

SUPT. MAKES APPEAL TO TEACHERS AND PAT- RONS IN COUNTY.

We are glad to say that we were able to secure teachers for every school in Jackson County and that most all the rural schools are now in session. Better still, I beleive that we have the strongest teaching force that has ever been employed in this county.

To the teachers I wish to say, that we are going to expect great things of you, because after all is said, the success of any school depends mainly upon the teacher. Clean up your house and grounds, make them attractive as possible. Let the children help you to do this and the patrons, too. It is as true that the house does not make a school, as that a house does not make a home, but the people who dwell there.

I want to ask the patrons to make this the best school year that we have ever had. If your school is not all you would have it be, your interest and co-operation will do much toward making it so. It is a good idea for teachers and patrons to work together for the good of the children.

The County Board of Education has done all they could to make your schools a success and have employed the best teachers they could and placed them where they thought they could do the best work.

The editor of your county paper tells me that he will be glad to give us an educational department in the paper, and will be glad to have contributions from any school in the county. So let me suggest that every teacher take the county paper in order to keep up with the school news, as well as other county happenings. Be sure to send in your school news, your pupils will like for others to know that your school is on the map.

The State Department has been unable to furnish us registers yet, but think we will be able to get these by the first of August.

To the teachers patrons, and pupils, I wish to say that my greatest ambition is to help you to have the very best school that we have ever had.

Yours for better schools.
Estelle Gailbreath, Co. Supt.

Making Trip To Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Bailey and two children, Frank and Ruby, and Miss Grace Hall of Whitleyville R-1, left Tuesday afternoon for Wynne, Ark., where they will spend two weeks with Mr. Bailey's brother, N. H. Bailey, and family. They went by the way of Nashville, stopping over there Tuesday night, and then to Memphis over the Bristol-to-Memphis high way. From there thru Arkansas to Wynne, where they expect to arrive Thursday. On their return trip they will come thru Mississippi and to Hopkinsville, Ky., where they have relatives. From there their route will be thru Mammoth Cave, Tompkinsville, Ky., and Red Springs in home. Mr. Bailey has been in the grocery business here for the past five years, and this is first time to take a vacation of any kind. We hope they will all enjoy the trip and be benefited by it. R. A. Montgomery will have charge of his rocery during his absence.
